This or That is a quick preference game, with no imaginary consequences to debate. Read the two options, let people choose or pass, and move on. Add an occasional follow-up if a choice starts a good conversation.

1. Keep a quick pace: about 15-20 seconds for each pair of options.
2. Read the options. Invite a choice with a word, gesture, or private note.
3. Pause for an optional story every few cards, then continue or finish.

Always room for a pass

Both, neither, and pass are valid. Speed is a suggestion, never a pressure rule.

Try a quiet round first: everyone chooses privately before a volunteer shares. For a paper round, circle preferences on the cards rather than comparing scores.

Printing & privacy

Use Letter paper. Print single-sided at 100% / Actual size, one PDF page per sheet. Test one page first. Cut only the card pages; keep worksheets and bingo boards whole. Keep answers with their writers.

Original AI-assisted draft questions. Human English review, group playtesting, physical print quality, and duplex alignment are not yet verified. Planned durations are not measured outcomes.

Print check: measure these bars after printing at 100% / Actual size.
