

Roommate Icebreaker Questions for Adults

Host rules / Keep this page

2-8 adults / One card or a short shared round / 24 original prompts

Try 24 optional questions when adult roommates first meet. Start with a welcoming space, general ideas for sharing common areas, or an imaginary home. Keep rental decisions, practical house rules, and any sensitive information in separate conversations.

1. Invite a short casual conversation when both people want one. Choose a light card; there is no need to finish a round.
2. Use general or made-up examples. Skip financial, tenancy, health, security, and personal background questions; do not treat replies as screening answers.
3. Close whenever either person is ready. Discuss actual household arrangements separately and check agreement explicitly rather than inferring it from a game answer.

Always room for a pass

Answer, invent an example, listen, think quietly, or pass without explaining. Keep participation voluntary; do not score, record, or evaluate replies.

This is casual conversation for adults, not screening, a contract, or agreement about household arrangements. Discuss actual house rules separately.

Printing & privacy

Use A4 paper. Print single-sided at 100% / Actual size, one PDF page per sheet. Test a page first. Cut only card sheets; keep notes and worksheets whole. Do not collect answers.

Original AI-assisted draft questions. Human English review, group playtesting, physical print quality, and duplex alignment are not yet verified. Planned durations are not measured outcomes.

Print check: measure these bars after printing at 100% / Actual size.

Roommate Icebreaker Questions for Adults

Facilitator notes / Keep this page

A small host plan.

A shared invitation

One card, optional replies

1. Invite a short casual conversation when both people want one. Choose a light card; there is no need to finish a round.
2. Use general or made-up examples. Skip financial, tenancy, health, security, and personal background questions; do not treat replies as screening answers.

Two new housemates

Adapt or stop at the agreed point

1. Start with one easy question. Either person may answer, invent an example, listen, or suggest a different topic.
2. Close whenever either person is ready. Discuss actual household arrangements separately and check agreement explicitly rather than inferring it from a game answer.

Host checklist

- Explain how the activity ends before it starts.
- Keep listening, passing, and quiet thinking available.
- Do not collect, rank, photograph, or publish answers.

Roommate Icebreaker Questions for Adults

Card sheet / Cut along the thin outlines

F31-001 / REV 1 Start with something small What small detail would make a shared living room feel welcoming to a new housemate? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-002 / REV 1 Start with something small What harmless topic could start a first roommate conversation away from household logistics? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.
F31-003 / REV 1 Start with something small What would you put in a welcome note that asks for no personal information? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-004 / REV 1 Start with something small What everyday object makes a room feel lived in without taking up much space? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.
F31-005 / REV 1 Start with something small What would you call a shared corner meant for sitting and doing very little? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-006 / REV 1 Start with something small What could a housemate say to make a short conversation easy to end? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.
F31-007 / REV 1 Start with something small What would make a shared noticeboard useful without turning it into a list of complaints? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-008 / REV 1 Start with something small What could make the first cup of tea together feel less like an interview? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.

Roommate Icebreaker Questions for Adults

Card sheet / Cut along the thin outlines

F31-009 / REV 1 Share a space kindly What is a friendly way to ask before moving a shared decoration? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-010 / REV 1 Share a space kindly What could a general note say when something in a common area needs attention? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.
F31-011 / REV 1 Share a space kindly What would help distinguish a suggestion from an agreed household rule? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-012 / REV 1 Share a space kindly What could roommates call a basket for objects that need to find their owners? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.
F31-013 / REV 1 Share a space kindly What would make a small shared shelf easier to keep understandable? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-014 / REV 1 Share a space kindly What could someone say when they need more time before discussing a household decision? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.
F31-015 / REV 1 Share a space kindly What would be a kind way to revisit an ordinary preference that has changed? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-016 / REV 1 Share a space kindly What small shared-space question deserves its own practical conversation later? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.

Roommate Icebreaker Questions for Adults

Card sheet / Cut along the thin outlines

F31-017 / REV 1 An imaginary home What would a houseplant put on a roommate introduction card? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-018 / REV 1 An imaginary home What shared-room decoration would suit a home inhabited by friendly paper boats? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.
F31-019 / REV 1 An imaginary home What would a sofa write in a welcome letter to a new cushion? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-020 / REV 1 An imaginary home What would you call an apartment where every cupboard leads to an imaginary season? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.
F31-021 / REV 1 An imaginary home What would be on a welcome tray for a visiting cloud? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-022 / REV 1 An imaginary home What would a household noticeboard look like if spoons made all the announcements? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.
F31-023 / REV 1 An imaginary home What room would you add to an imaginary house that already has everything it needs? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.	F31-024 / REV 1 An imaginary home What would the house itself suggest as a title for its first housemate gathering? Answer, listen, or pass. No explanation needed.